

Remove Approval Delegate

At the end of the period you specified, the system will automatically deauthorize your approval delegate, and the approval process will return to default status. However, all reports that were routed during that period remain in the approval delegate's approval queue for further action.

If you return earlier than expected or simply wish to revoke your approval delegate's access, tap the X next to his or her name.

My Approval Delegate

An "Approval Delegate" helps you with approvals during a specified time.
